A delightful inheritance

BY REBECCA J. STOLTZFUS '83, President of Goshen College

IN THIS 125TH anniversary year, we pause and wonder at the heritage that we have received, and consider how we are shaping that heritage in this time for the coming generations.

Goshen College was brought into being by ordinary people like us, who were extraordinary servant leaders. They were motivated by their own joy in learning and the possibility to create something new at the intersection of the tradition of Mennonite church, the locality of Elkhart County and the optimism of the late 19th century.

What have we inherited from these founders and servant leaders?

We inherited enthusiasm. Joining the teaching faculty of the Elkhart Institute in 1898, historian C. Henry Smith "faced the future with the enthusiasm born of hope and youthful confidence." One of Goshen's founders, John S. Coffman, described the Elkhart Institute as the "welling up of a pent-up stream that could no longer be suppressed. Disadvantages, opposition, fears of failure, all had to give way before the force that was driven into action by the deep consciousness of duty to God, to the church, to our young people, and to the cause of Christ in general."

We inherited Christian faith and the vision that "the men and women going out from Goshen College would be armed with a character that will never shrink from maintaining true principles, a trust that relies solely on the favor of God for success," said Coffman. The commitments of Goshen College to Christian discipleship in general and to the Mennonite church in particular are an enduring inheritance. That these commitments have been questioned in every era of our history is evidence of their aliveness. We did not inherit faith that is sleepy or taken for granted, but a faith that is curious, growing and unafraid of struggle.

We inherited engagement with the world. In 1903, President Noah Byers declared: "Let our motto be, Culture for Service." It still is and we should not underestimate the radical nature of this motto. Goshen's enduring commitment to service and to interconnectedness with local and global communities has been held in tension with academic and church culture.

In the face of the academic tendency to be elite and intellectual, Byers exhorted Goshen College not to produce "an aristocracy of cultivated parasites." And in the face of the Mennonite church's tendency to stand apart from society, J. Lawrence Burkholder asked in 1955 as a young professor: "Shall we go on and take a responsible position in society, or completely withdraw and become a sect in the stricter sense of the word?" Goshen College has over and over voted with minds, hearts and hands to engage and serve the world.

We inherited freedom, as Smith said in 1899, "...not because old habits of thinking are always wrong ... but because without this freedom growth is impossible ..." Seven decades later, Ruth Krall, the founding professor of our women and gender studies program, asked her students: "What do you want to learn? What do you need to learn? And where do you want to look?" The freedom of Goshen College is grounded in our trust in truth and grace, and our openness to the diverse goodness of God's Creation.

In the language of Psalm 16:6, we have "a goodly heritage," a delightful inheritance in fact, and we are eager to steward it into the future.

About the cover (front and back)

While Goshen College's official beginnings in August 1894 as the Elkhart Institute were 12 miles away from the current campus (p. 56), the move to Goshen in 1903 saw new buildings that still stand and are central to the campus (front cover, 1915), even as much has changed. The college has transformed and been transformed by the community it has called home for 125 years, while remaining Elkhart County's only private, residential college.

The back cover shows the opposite perspective from that same time: from a rooftop (probably of the Administration Building) looking past the Aurora Gate, up 8th Street and towards the City of Goshen. That gate symbolizes the welcome the college has extended and the ways it has sent many off for service in the community and the world.

So join us in celebrating this anniversary — our "quasquicentennial" (a fun mouthful!) — throughout this year! Read more at goshen.edu/125.

Study-Service Term transitions from Peru to Ecuador

On July 29, the final group of 15 Goshen College Study-Service Term (SST) students left Peru, officially marking the end of Goshen College's 14-year program in the country. Since 2005, more than 600 students have traveled to Peru in 37 units, forging connections with host families, teachers, colleagues and friends that cross cultural boundaries.

Ecuador has replaced Peru as a Spanish-speaking SST location, and will also host units year-round. Goshen College is partnering with the Cofan Survival Fund and the program will be based out of Quito. The first unit departed on Aug. 28, led by Professor of Accounting Andrew Hartzler '98 and his spouse, Ruth Hartzler '99.

New books from GC faculty

1 Ann Hostetler, "Safehold"
(Dreamseeker Books, Dec. 2018)

"Safehold" is compiled of poems written and collected by Hostetler, professor of English. It invites a thought-provoking, spiritual outlook on dealing with a loss of assurance.

2 Jan Bender Shetler '78, "Claiming Civic Virtue: Gender Network Memory in the Mara Region, Tanzania"
(University of Wisconsin Press, July 2019)

Drawing from her experiences and interviews of women in Tanzania, Shetler, director of international education, shares the stories that women have specifically been charged with remembering, differently from men.

3 Justin Heinzekehr '06, "The Absent Christ: An Anabaptist Theology Of The Empty Tomb"
(Cascadia Publishing House, July 2019)

Heinzekehr, director of institutional research and assessment and assistant professor of Bible, explores the significance of the empty tomb and Jesus' physical absence for Anabaptist ecclesiology and theology.

Goshen College experiences 26-year high for giving toward GC Fund

Donors to Goshen College contributed nearly $2.2 million to the Goshen College Fund during the 2018-19 fiscal year, a 26-year high. At the close of the fiscal year on June 30, the Goshen College Fund had received $2,190,763, a 14.8 percent increase in unrestricted giving for the GC Fund over last year.

Overall giving to Goshen College totaled $4,874,781, which combines both unrestricted and designated giving.

"Our donors play an important role in supporting our mission and providing amazing opportunities for our students," said President Rebecca Stoltzfus '83. "Through their support, we are able to prepare students to thrive in life, leadership and service through an affordable educational experience."

Maple Scholars dedicate summer to research

This year, 14 students dedicated their summers to working on Maple Scholars summer research projects. Participants included:

Xan Seymour, a junior secondary education major, worked with Jose Rocha, former associate professor of music, in gathering data behind the relationship behind music and the brain.

Thomas Schlabach, a senior molecular biology/biochemistry major, worked alongside Neil Detweiler '08, assistant professor of biology, on the establishment and optimization of a protocol for the artificial expression and electrophysiological characterization of ion channels.

Martin Gerig, a senior molecular biology/biochemistry major, and Neil Detweiler '08, worked together in studying the comparative physiology and relative susceptibility of yak and cattle lungs to pathophysiological effects of low oxygen exposure.

Jace Longenecker, a senior history major from South Bend, worked with Philipp Gollner, assistant professor of U.S. history, to look at the religious and ethnic history of Elkhart County.

Ebithal Abdelaziz, a sophomore physics major, partnered with David Housman, professor of mathematics, to study the game theoretic models of power, cooperation and resource allocation.

Anne Buckwalter '19 and Suzanne Ehst, associate professor of education and director of secondary education, worked together to explore the impact of Anabaptist education preparation on beginning teachers' practice.

Laura Miller, a senior writing and English double major, worked with John Roth '81, professor of history, to delve into the popular history of the Indonesian Mennonite Churches.

Emmy Rupp, a junior social work major, and Kelsey Winters, a senior peace, justice and conflict studies major, partnered with Anna Kurtz Kuk, assistant professor of theater, and Phil Weaver-Stoesz '12, former technical director, to use immersive theatrical methods to train sexual misconduct response team members.

Tyler Lautenschleger, a senior molecular biology/biochemistry major, worked alongside Andy Ammons, associate professor of biology, to investigate the mosquito population dynamics and genetics as it pertains to Northern Indiana.

Levi Ebersole, junior sustainability management major, and Anna McVay, junior sustainability studies major, were tasked with working alongside Kevin Miller '85, sustainability coordinator, Caleb Longenecker Fox '15, giving and advancement coordinator, and Jonathon Schramm, associate professor of sustainability and environmental education, to form an analysis of GC's sustainability methods.

Sophia Martin, a senior history major, and Sierra Ross Richer, a junior exercise science major, worked with Ann Hostetler, professor of English, and Joel Pontius, assistant professor of sustainability and environmental education, to explore an interdisciplinary approach to sustainability.

Renovated Union Building reopens

The Union Building opened its doors in August after an eight-month renovation project, welcoming visitors to the new Hunsberger Commons, which is home to the Hunsberger Haitian Art Collection (p. 26-27) and the relocated Juanita Lark Welcome Center, as well as an overhauled Leaf Raker Cafe (right). View more photos at goshen.edu/union.

"The hope is that these new spaces bring together food, art, people and hospitality in new and joyful ways," said President Rebecca Stoltzfus '83. "These spaces will welcome conversations across the generations and across the academic disciplines, increase our interactions and widen our welcome to our neighbors."

Kennard Martin, GC's longest-serving employee, dies at 78

Kennard Martin, 78, a campus groundsperson and longest-serving employee in the history of GC, died Aug. 29, 2019. He worked at Goshen College for 58 years.

Martin came to Goshen College in 1961 to work in the dining hall for two years for his 1-W conscientious objector alternative service. He spent 20 years doing custodial and grounds work for the Athletic Department, and 57 years later he still served the college by mowing the lawns and plowing snow.

The college recognized his 50 years of service by naming the 2011-12 school year "The Year of Kennard Martin, Leader in Service."

Martin was an employee for 46 percent of Goshen College's 125-year history.

GOSHEN
MAPLE LEAFS

SCOREBOARD SPRING 2019

SOFTBALL (20-33-1, 13-22-1 CL)

In their first season under head coach Juliaclare Plezbert, the Maple Leafs won their first postseason game since 2004 and finished in a tie for third in the Crossroads League postseason tournament. Goshen set a number of offensive program records, including hits, runs scored, doubles and walks. Junior Emily Cummings' (Ararat, N.C.) 73 hits were a program record for a single player in a season, as were her 15 doubles and 42 runs batted in. All told, the team prompted 44 record-book edits by finishing in the top 10 in a given statistic. Cummings picked up all-conference honors in the pitching circle, finishing third in the Crossroads League with 73 hits and fourth with 14 wins. First-year shortstop Jessica Bachtell (Chula Vista, California) took home a certificate for honorable-mention all-conference after recording 69 hits and 41 runs batted in, each of which would have been a school record had Cummings not bettered them, and hit .385. On the defensive side, sophomore Leah Herrman (Corona, California) won the conference's gold glove award at third base.

BASEBALL (20-29, 12-15 CL)

The Maple Leafs posted their fourth straight season with at least 19 wins and pulled a pair of upsets in the Crossroads League postseason tournament before finishing fourth. Clinton Stroble II '19 (Newport News, Virginia) set a program record with 53 career doubles; he finished with 208 career hits and 142 runs batted in, which put him second and third in the GC baseball record book. He batted .378 to tie for the conference lead, driving in 34 runs and roping 23 extra-base hits. Three junior classmates were named to the conference honorable-mention list: relief pitcher Colton Daniel (Cayuga, Texas), second baseman Colby Malson (Tipton, Ind.) and outfielder Ben Longacre (Barto, Pennsylvania). Daniel made 22 relief appearances, leading the team with five saves. Malson batted .309 with 50 hits, but made his biggest impact on the mound, holding opponents to a .198 average and posting a team-high six wins. Longacre hit .343 with 13 doubles, finishing among the conference's top 10 in both categories.

MEN'S TRACK AND FIELD (INDOORS: 9TH IN CL; OUTDOORS: 9TH IN CL)

First-year Simon Graber Miller (Goshen) set an indoor school record — clearing 6'-7½" — while qualifying for both the indoor and outdoor national championships as the Maple Leafs sent a runner, a jumper and a thrower to the NAIA's biggest stage. Graber Miller finished 14th at indoor nationals in March and 12th at outdoor nationals in May. Sophomore Jacob Gerber (Goshen) added a top-15 finish of his own in the hammer throw, an outdoor-only event. Junior Ryan Haggerty (Freeman, South Dakota) also qualified for nationals in the marathon. Sophomore Vincent Kibunja (Nakuru, Kenya) took home all-conference honors in the 1,000-meter run with a second-place finish and Gerber was fourth in the 35-pound weight throw. Gerber and Graber Miller were both conference champions in the outdoor meet.

WOMEN'S TRACK AND FIELD (INDOORS: 10TH IN CL; OUTDOORS, 10TH IN CL)

Junior race walker Siana Emery (North Yarmouth, Maine) continued a Maple Leaf dynasty by taking home her second and third All-American honors in the race walk while sophomore Suzette Rodriguez (Goshen) qualified for nationals in the weight throw. Emery finished eighth in the 5,000-meter (3.11-mile) race, clocking a time of 28:14.88. First-year Hayley Bickford (Gorham, Maine) joined Emery in qualifying for the indoor race walk, a 3,000-meter (1.86-mile) event that saw Emery finish fourth and Bickford 11th. Rodriguez finished third in the hammer at the outdoor conference meet, uncorking a 157-foot, 10-inch throw, and set a school record with a meet-winning 53'-5½" in the weight throw. Sophomore Taylor Roasa (Oak Park, Michigan) also set a pair of indoor program records, posting times of 8.23 seconds in the 60-meter dash and 27.23 seconds in the 200.

WOMEN ATHLETES SERVE, LEARN AND COMPETE IN THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

During May term, 18 Goshen College student-athletes from the women's basketball and softball teams, along with two coaches and two professors, traveled to the Dominican Republic for the second-ever Study and Sports Abroad course. The course was designed by Doug Schirch '82, professor of chemistry, and Maria Sanchez Schirch '11, former assistant professor of Spanish, to provide a study-abroad experience for student-athletes, whose schedules often don't allow for the college's traditional semester-long Study-Service Term (SST). Throughout the three-week span of the class, students lived with host families in Santo Domingo, taking language courses, experiencing informative lectures and field trips and competing against local teams.

NEWBERG NAMED NEW MEN'S SOCCER COACH

Victor Newberg was named the 10th men's soccer coach in Maple Leaf program history this summer, assuming the position in early June. Newberg is a graduate of St. Norbert College in Wisconsin, and comes from Trine University in Angola, Indiana, where he was an assistant coach for two seasons. Before Trine, he worked at Ancilla College in Donaldson, Indiana, where he finished 11-3-1 as a head coach after serving as an assistant for the third-place finisher in the NJCAA tournament.

GC NAMED AS A BEST NAIA SCHOOL FOR STUDENT-ATHLETES

Goshen College has been named one of the best National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) schools in the country for student-athletes, according to Next College Student Athlete (NCSA), the country's largest college athletic recruiting network. They ranked Goshen College 27th among 140 NAIA college athletic programs. Unlike traditional power rankings which list schools based purely on athletic performance, this ranking uses criteria that student-athletes find most important when considering potential schools, including athletics, academics and affordability.

THIRTEEN PROGRAMS NAMED SCHOLAR-TEAMS

Thirteen of Goshen's athletic teams were named NAIA Scholar-Teams this summer after posting cumulative grade-point averages above 3.00 during the 2018-19 academic year. The Maple Leaf women's cross country team led the way with a 3.81 GPA, leading the conference and bringing in the 10th-highest mark of any team in any sport in the nation. GC's women's volleyball team also led the conference, finishing 20th nationally among teams in their sport with a 3.604. Goshen athletes posted an aggregate GPA of 3.20 with 41 academic all-conference performers and 113 entries on the Dean's List.

CULTURE FOR SERVICE AWARD

Minh (Nguyen) Kauffman '74

Minh (Nguyen) Kauffman '74 has dedicated her professional life to social change and community building across countries, cultures and language barriers, through organizations like Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) and the Center for Educational Exchange with Vietnam (CEEVN), an affiliate of the American Council of Learned Societies.

Kauffman grew up in Saigon, Vietnam, and came to Goshen College in 1969 where she met students from across the globe, as well as her future husband, Fred Kauffman '73.

Immediately following graduation, Kauffman taught second grade at Middlebury Elementary School for two years. In 1976, she and Fred began a 13-year series of service assignments in Guatemala, India, Cambodia, Thailand and Vietnam through MCC.

Through short-term consulting in Vietnam, Kauffman discovered ways to support the Vietnamese when they were still feeling the effects of the Vietnam War.

"I got to practice, discover, learn and relearn how to live and work with people," Kauffman said. "True partnership enables local people to own and drive their own development. I truly understood what 'Culture for Service' meant."

In 1989, Kauffman created the Education Exchange Center, a project of MCC's Vietnam program. The organization set about to aid Vietnamese agricultural universities in connecting with Southeast Asian countries to participate in professional exchanges. They also facilitated the work of American NGOs and academic institutions, introducing the idea of exchange programs with Vietnam.

Renamed the Center for Educational Exchange with Vietnam (CEEVN) in 1994, the organization has given hundreds of mid-career Vietnamese the path to international education and opportunity, with Kauffman at the helm. It has produced leaders in many fields, including top ministry levels of government. She also advised the Ford Foundation in its programs in the country.

Kauffman plans to retire in 2020, but the legacy of CEEVN will continue in the hands of a local Vietnamese NGO made up of alumni of the exchange program.

"Minh was the right person in the right place at the right time," said Stan Reedy '62, then co-representative for MCC in Vietnam. "She was able to imagine a way to connect assets with needs, bringing her own training and experience together to connect individuals and institutions in countries far apart."

Among 10 national awards that Minh received in Vietnam is the Presidential Medal of Friendship in 2005, the country's highest medal awarded to foreigners.

Kauffman lives in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, with her husband Fred, and they have two adult children, Tony and Timothy. She is actively involved in Philadelphia's Vietnamese Mennonite Church.

CULTURE FOR SERVICE AWARD

Carolyn (Yoder) Sauder '55

Carolyn (Yoder) Sauder '55 personifies generosity and service, giving freely of her time, resources and talents to improve the world and everyone around her.

Formerly the executive director at Sauder Village in Archbold, Ohio, she continues in her 45th year there as a volunteer.

Sauder grew up in West Liberty, Ohio, and graduated from Goshen College with a degree in education.

Sauder met her husband, Maynard, at Little Eden Mennonite Camp. As a newly married couple, they were charter members of Zion Mennonite Church in Archbold, Ohio, and each had a role to play in the family businesses.

Her father-in-law, Erie Sauder, founded Sauder Woodworking, the fifth largest residential furniture manufacturer in the nation, and Sauder Village, Ohio's largest living-history museum and Erie's focus after his retirement.

Helping to implement Erie's vision in 1976 to keep the ancestral history of Ohio alive, she helped grow Sauder Village by developing relationships with staff, educators and museum and history professionals. Sauder Village opened for its first summer with 42 employees, and has grown to more than 400 employees and 400 volunteers.

"You can't be the best at everything, so you choose people who are experts and follow their lead and learn from it," Sauder said. "It's wonderful to see people succeed."

She retired in 2000, and her daughter, Debbie Sauder David, followed in her footsteps, taking over as executive director.

"She has led with passion and enthusiasm, encouraging others to succeed," Debbie said of her mother. "Her support behind the scenes with my dad and grandpa facilitated their successful business leadership."

Carolyn is quick to mention Maynard when speaking about her accomplishments. "We worked on things together. He was a fantastic leader and we made a good team," she said. "It's been a real gift."

In addition to her leadership at the village, Sauder's passion for music and the arts led her to help get the ball rolling and serve on the Goshen College Music Center fund drive and planning committee. It is now the home of the Sauder Concert Hall.

Sauder also was on the senior advisory council for the campaign to build a new library at Anabaptist Mennonite Biblical Seminary in Elkhart. She established the Sauder Stewardship Foundation to perpetuate the spirit of generosity and make a meaningful, positive impact on the community, nation and world. She also supports Mennonite Central Committee, Mennonite Economic Development Associates and other organizations that promote peace and justice in the world.

Carolyn and Maynard still live in Archbold, Ohio, and have enjoyed traveling and learning about other cultures, and are active members at Zion Mennonite Church.

Rob Vander Giessen-Reitsma '05

A graduate of Goshen College's peace, justice and conflict studies program, Rob Vander Geissen-Reitsma '05 has dedicated his life to aiding others and advocating for peace.

Since the early 2000's, Vander Giessen-Reitsma and his wife Kirstin have been leading a community development movement based in Three Rivers, Michigan. Vander Giessen-Reitsma works as the executive director of *culture is not optional (*cino), a nonprofit organization that is rooted in Christ and whose mission it is to model and encourage creative communities.

Currently, *cino's main focus is The Huss Project, an initiative that began in 2009 to transform an abandoned elementary school in a lower-income neighborhood into a lively community space. At the end of last year, Vander Giessen-Reitsma's leadership was crucial in a successful financial campaign to win a $50,000 grant to create a renovated, indoor community space at the Huss School called the Imaginarium, which will allow for year-round programming.

"Over the years, I think we as people and as an organization have grown in understanding that the only way to live alongside and serve your neighbors is to do that in the place where you are," Vander Giessen-Reitsma said.

The Huss Project promotes community development and has hosted such programs as art installations, festivals and service-learning groups. Over the summer, The Huss Project partners with local schools to provide lunches for children during the week. They also have an urban farm on site, and 80 percent of the produce is distributed to people in the area without access to fresh vegetables.

The Vander Giessen-Reitsmas also helped start and continue to help run World Fare, a volunteer-run fair trade store in downtown Three Rivers that they opened the same year he came to Goshen College.

"I'm pretty convinced that if we were to try this radical love ethic we might find flourishing for all people, particularly the oppressed, but also freedom for the oppressor in that as well," said Vander Giessen-Reitsma. "That's a pretty radical idea and hard to live out in everyday life but it underlies most of what we're attempting to do."

DR. RUTH GUNDEN CHAMPION OF CHARACTER AWARD

Kari Heusinkveld '12

Kari Heusinkveld '12 has brought the knack for leadership and passion for basketball that she demonstrated at Goshen College to Hillcrest Academy (formerly Iowa Mennonite School) in Kalona, Iowa, where she has served as the head girl's basketball coach since the 2015 season.

After transferring to Goshen from Hesston College, the point guard wasted no time making her mark on the Maple Leaf basketball program. Heusinkveld started 14 times and appeared in 28 games during her first season at GC in 2010-11, averaging 3.6 points and 2.2 rebounds per game. In her senior season, Heusinkveld served as team captain, the first under current head coach Stephanie Miller, and was also named team MVP. She started in 29 games, averaging 7.6 points and 4.3 rebounds each game.

"Deep down I think I always knew I would end up coaching at some point," Heusinkveld said. "Even at a young age, many of my coaches made comments about me getting into it, so when my playing days were over it just made sense."

In March 2019, Heusinkveld was a recipient of the E. Wayne Cooley "You Can" Award by the Iowa Girls Coaches Association for her work in rebuilding the girls basketball program at Hillcrest Academy. This award is meant to recognize coaches who are early in their coaching career and are building up a varsity program. Heusinkveld was one of just three coaches in Iowa given the award for girls basketball.

In her first two seasons at Hillcrest Academy, Heusinkveld's team went 1-37. Then, in the 2017-2018 season, they finished with five wins. In the 2018-2019 season, the team went 10-11.

"I feel like GC taught me perseverance in the face of challenges and that's something I will forever be grateful for," she said. "Whether it was in the classroom or on the court, I was constantly pushed and encouraged to give more, do more, be more. Balancing the demands of athletics with being a science major was tough, but it helped prepare me for balancing multiple avenues in my professional career."

Heusinkveld's coaching philosophy is one of encouragement. "My goal is to provide a positive athletic experience for each of my athletes and I believe that that first starts with creating a safe, controlled environment that is conducive to learning," she said.

Garrett Cannizzo '12

Garrett Cannizzo '12 was a top athlete and a strong scholar during his four years at Goshen College, which has helped lead him to early success in his professional life, including being named to the South Bend Tribune's 2018 "Michiana Forty Under 40" list.

The recipient of the 2017 Indiana CPA society's Emerging Leader Award, Cannizzo currently works in Elkhart, Indiana, as an audit senior manager at RSM US LLP, which is the fifth largest public accounting firm in the country. In this role, he specializes in working directly with companies in the manufacturing industry, and his clients are spread across the country.

Originally from Arlington Heights, Illinois, Cannizzo came to Goshen College to continue his baseball career and pursue a degree in accounting, while also minoring in business and entrepreneurship.

Cannizzo was a vital member of the Maple Leaf baseball team during his time at Goshen. In his senior year, he maintained a career high 0.321 batting average, and was consistently one of the teams top hitters, serving as designated hitter his junior and senior seasons. He also was a top outfielder, posting an impressive 0.957 fielding average for his collegiate career.

Off the baseball diamond, he was involved on campus, serving in positions such as business manager of The Record and resident assistant.

Since graduating, Cannizzo has been deeply involved in his local community with a number of non-profit organizations, both in volunteer and board positions, which he notes has helped him create business connections and accelerate his career trajectory. He attributes this to his time at GC.

"Being from a big city, I never really understood the concept of 'community,'" said Cannizzo. "After I graduated and moved to Northern Indiana, I truly started to understand and embrace what a 'community' really is and what it means to those who are involved. Without the GC community, I don't think I would have ever learned what that means."

Cannizzo and his wife Elise live in Granger, Indiana, and attend Gospel City Church, also located in Granger.

125 YEARS: QUASQUI TOUCH

CENTENNIAL STONES

BY SUSAN FISHER MILLER '79 AND JOE SPRINGER '80

AUTHORS' NOTE: These "touchstones," events and themes selected from each quarter-century of Goshen College's 125-year history, represent both specific moments in time and larger symbols of institutional identity. We invite you to consider how the following touchstones — five from among many — resonate with each other and across time, with the unfolding mission of Goshen College. Interested in more of the story? View a full presentation the authors gave on this topic during Homecoming Weekend at goshen.edu/bulletin.

COMING TO GOSHEN

Goshen College's June 1903 groundbreaking ceremony rooted the institution in a specific tract of farmland (a stubbly wheat field cleared just in time for the ceremony), but also in the broader civic landscape of Goshen, Indiana, whose enterprising business leaders raised prodigious funds to win the Mennonite Church-directed college for their city. Businessman Wilbur L. Stonex had argued that a college would deliver more benefits and cultural riches to the community than a factory. Now the higher educational beacon of its proud sponsoring community, Goshen College in its early decades would enjoy easy and regular interactions with Goshen town citizens and institutions, including in shared worship spaces and with local non-Mennonite young people who soon enrolled as students. Photographed looking north toward downtown from the site of the future Administration Building entryway, the portrait of Goshen College's 1903 groundbreaking crowd — the grinning Elkhart Institute delegation squeezed in alongside Goshen civic leaders and their families in a happy sea of plain coats, bonnets, bow ties and elaborate picture hats — captures a giddy moment of cooperative promise (p. 20).

After breaking ground for the future campus, many in the crowd rode

June 1903 groundbreaking ceremony in Goshen:

1. Wilbur Stonex, one of the primary leaders of Goshen's civic efforts to recruit Goshen College
2. H. Frank Reist 1904, future GC President
3. J.S. Hartzler, GC business manager and Bible instructor
4. John E. Hartzler 1910, future GC President
5. Anthony Deahl, Goshen attorney and a leader in the civic recruitment effort chartered trolley cars back to Elkhart to mark a final graduation in that city. Elkhart Institute had begun modestly in rented quarters in August 1894. Soon supporting stockholders funded construction of what had seemed a substantial building. But on that June evening, the still-new building was already too small to handle the commencement crowd. The Institute's Class of 1903 would enshrine its class motto, Vorwärts und aufwärts (Onward and upward), in the façade of the soon-to-rise Administration Building. A reminder of the past, this stone continues to point us to the future.

OLD GOSHEN, NEW GOSHEN

An August 1914 performance by Goshen College students, faculty and local citizens on the campus lawn of Handel's oratorio "Saul" provides a window on the college's first two decades in Goshen, an era that, after college-church tensions resulted in the closing of the college for one year in 1923-24, came to be called "Old Goshen" (p. 22). Viewed as Edenic by some and dangerously liberal by others, Old Goshen was the laboratory in which the present Goshen College first sparked to life.

The choice of a sacred oratorio on a biblical theme was consistent with Goshen College's religious priorities. At the same time, the production — replete with costumes — was characteristic of Old Goshen's high cultural ambitions. Music performance, oratory and athletics activities rounded out a Goshen education, pushing the boundaries of traditional Mennonite prohibitions. Critics feared Goshen was grooming students to forsake traditional nonconformity and join mainstream American liberality. External criticism exacerbated the precarious financial footing of the fledgling institution, resulting in the board's decision to close the college at the end of the 1922-23 academic year.

In the year following, committed leaders labored so that a "New Goshen" could open in the fall of 1924. New President S.C. Yoder and Dean Noah Oyer applied conciliatory skills and wisdom to reopen a more viable endeavor. Some of the ablest products of the oft-maligned Old Goshen education formed the core of a vigorous new faculty. Conflicts and griefs inherent in the original venture — promoting education in a Mennonite context — did not disappear completely.

A LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

BY LUKE GASCHO,
Retired executive director of Merry Lea Environmental Learning Center of Goshen College

In 1830, two 100-year-old white oak trees stood close to the intersection of what is now the corner of Main Street and College Avenue.

These trees had witnessed many changes through their life span. This land had been the home of the Miami People for over 700 years. They were displaced to the west during the mid-17th century because of the Beaver Wars initiated by European nations. The Miami established their homes further to the southeast of Goshen when they returned in the mid-18th century. This disruptive period of history brought the Potawatomi People into the Elkhart Prairie from the north, just as the two oak trees were young saplings. This land was a favored location where Miami and Potawatomi raised corn, beans and squash, gathered non-domesticated plants, fished and hunted. The first settlers arriving on the Elkhart Prairie noted the wigwams of many Potawatomi family units.

Then, this land we now call Goshen College, was taken by treaty from the Potawatomi by the U.S. government in September 1828. It is clear that the land was prime farm land, as only settlers could own parcels on the Elkhart Prairie. The treaty states:

"There shall be granted to the following persons, all of whom are Indians by descent, the tracts of land...provided that no location shall be made upon the Elkhart Prairie, nor within five miles of the same."

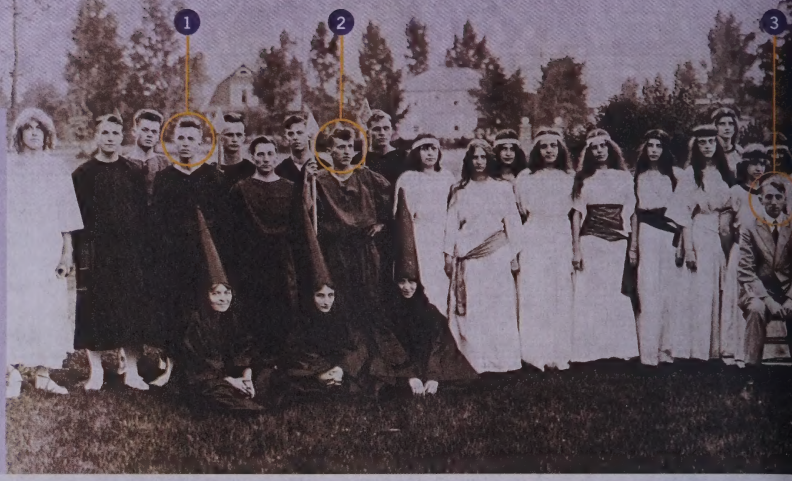
The treaty to cede their land was signed by key chiefs; Topenebee, Pokagon and Shipshewanon, along with 66 other Potawatomi representatives and two commissioners of the U.S. government.

The two oaks were listed in the first surveyor's 1830 field notes as "witness trees" to the post he set to create the northwest corner of Section 22 of Elkhart Township of Elkhart County. As he looked to the west, he described the land as rolling down to the Elkhart River. He then walked east, recording in his field notes that the land was an oak savannah that soon opened into prairie (just past the current Music Center). At the half mile point (approximately the intersection of College Avenue and 15th Street) the surveyor noted a road heading to Fort Wayne. This was the primary trail/road that the Miami and Potawatomi had traveled for centuries between what are now the cities of Elkhart and Fort Wayne. It is also the road that many early settlers used as they came from the east.

Much of the land where Goshen College is situated was first purchased in 1831 by a settler Daniel Cripe, Sr., the first Dunkard minister in the area, and the deed was signed by President Andrew Jackson. Daniel and his wife Magdalena sold the land to their son Emanuel in 1830, who then sold it to Noah Shoup in 1895. Goshen College purchased land from the Shoup family in 1903, as the Elkhart Institute relocated to Goshen. The original location of the Elkhart Institute has a very similar land story, just with different settler names.

As we celebrate 125 years, Goshen College acknowledges that its land was taken from the Potawatomi and seeks to establish healthy relationships with Potawatomi in the region. We believe "The Earth is the Lord's" (Psalm 24:1) — and are committed to humbly pursuing health with all of Creation and being in right relationship with all people.

Still, the renewed effort found more secure footing that allowed Goshen College to rise again, survive the Depression and achieve full accreditation before its second quarter century would end.



Cast of "Saul" performed on the north campus lawn in August 1914.

ENGAGING THE WORLD

The tumult of World War II opened Goshen College to new encounters with the world. Growing numbers of students and faculty could rely on globes to track future or past periods of service or education. Some of Elkhart Institute's earliest students had heeded the exotic call to India. The aftermath of World War I had sent students to strife-torn areas in Europe, the Near East and Russia. In the 1940s, many GC students still hailed from rural communities. Alternative military service requirements for "work of national importance" exposed many in GC's applicant pools to smokejumping, reforestation projects and work in state mental hospitals. Participation away from home in such work also increased greatly the number of young Mennonites interested in pursuing higher education. At Goshen, faculty mentors and student peers were actively engaged in post-war relief in Europe and Asia. Soon they ventured on to teaching and development work in Africa, and beyond. A steady influx of international students enhanced the on-campus impact of experiences North Americans brought home from abroad. When GC sought reaccreditation in 1965, external observers noted that over half of the teaching faculty had some sort of international experience. In looking to its future, the college decided to build on this evolving strength, launching the Study-Service Trimester (SST) in 1968.

In this 1957 photo, longtime GC Dean Carl Kreider '36 points to Japan on a globe. The Kreider family had recently returned from four years in Tokyo, where Carl had founded the liberal arts program of International Christian University. 1970–1994

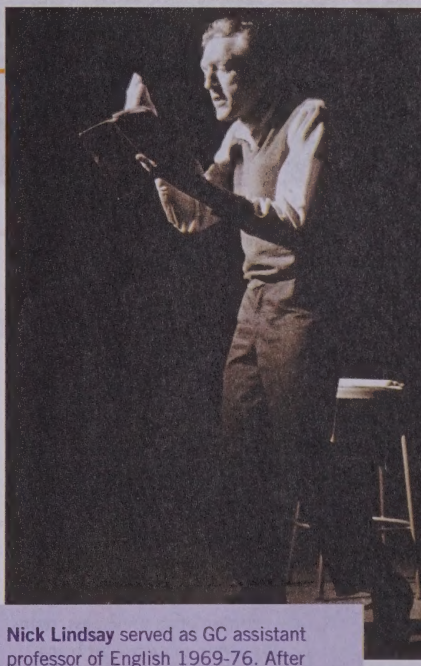
POTTERS AND POETS

"Goshen begins with the assumption that what is odd, exceptional and different may nevertheless be worthwhile, if not revelatory." One could apply departing President J. Lawrence Burkholder's '39 1984 characterization of campus culture to most of GC history. It seems particularly apt in describing the way GC's academic boundaries expanded during our fourth quarter century. The early 1970s at Goshen College unleashed a flourishing of the imaginative and unconventional — mirroring American trends, but distinctly rooted in campus culture. The teachers, nurses, doctors we continued to prepare carried SST-shaped life experiences with them. But they also studied in an on-campus environment sprinkled with the "odd, exceptional and different."

The poet Nicholas Lindsay joined the English Department faculty in 1969 with a voice of thunder and a kinetic teaching style unfamiliar in Goshen's classrooms. Lindsay tapped into the elemental, the archetypal, the Divine. Imbued with intriguing outsider credentials, he became an influential apostle of Goshen creative writing, founding Pinchpenny Press (which still continues strong) and inspiring students to become poets.

Lindsay was not alone in thinking outside the pedagogical box. For decades, professor of music Mary Oyer '45 had taught a peerless course in the classical fine arts. A sabbatical in Kenya broadened Oyer's gaze, and that of her students, to encompass thumb pianos, drums, indeed myriad artistic and musical forms of world cultures. Just as Lindsay led students toward the non-conformist profession of poetry, professor of art Marvin Bartel ignited a student passion for making pottery, resulting in an uncommon number of life vocations in ceramics. Perhaps the most novel curricular experiment of the period was a course called "Creative Expression" — inventive in concept but a difficult sell to students — who loved freedom of choice but objected to mandated creativity.



Nick Lindsay served as GC assistant professor of English 1969-76. After returning to his home on Edisto Island, South Carolina, Lindsay regularly led annual, weeklong poetry workshops in Goshen until 2000. The son of Vachel Lindsay, Lindsay's eclectic resumé included studies in Russian and French literature, carpenter, boatbuilder, collector of African-American lore.

DOORS OF WELCOME

What differences exist between GC at age 100 and 125? A 1994 alumnus might notice many. Only 10 percent of 1994 faculty still teach here. In 1994, GC had not yet had a female president, nor offered a master's degree. The Music Center, the Connector, Romero Student Apartments? — not yet built. Today, with the addition of an underpass, trains no longer provide an excuse for being late to class.

Campus sidewalks of 1994 carried more people, but the variety of people traversing today's sidewalks has increased significantly. What has moved us from a campus with a white student population of around 85 percent in 1994 to today's 56 percent? Especially notable is the rise in Hispanic student population to over 25 percent. In the late 1960s, GC began repeated, though not always successful, efforts to increase racial diversity. In 2001, Lilly Endowment invited GC to consider how it might use a "transformational" gift. Early ideas imagined "bridges" to the rapidly-growing local Hispanic population. In 2006, Lilly supported creation of the Center for Intercultural Teaching and Learning. Running through 2012, that grant sought to make GC education accessible to Latino and other diverse groups, increase all GC students' intercultural learning and study Northern Indiana's changing demographics and their implications for higher education.

Through changes in core curriculum, support for students and families, decisions about resources and organizational change, GC seeks to move "beyond hospitality" — and is enriched by the changing faces on its sidewalks. Touchstones of 125 years — engaging Indiana and the world, fusing faith and the liberal arts, finding revelation in the unconventional — are echoed, and enlarged, in the words of our recently-revised vision statement: to prepare "students to thrive in life, leadership and service. Rooted in the way of Jesus, we will seek inclusive community and transformative justice in all that we do."

A Beautiful Bequest

How the Hunsberger's Haitian art collection found a new home in the historic Union Building

When Goshen College Director Emeritus of International Education Arlin and Naomi Hunsberger '55 arrived in Haiti in 1962 to serve in a rural hospital with Mennonite Central Committee (MCC), they didn't intend to become collectors of local art.

But early in their Haitian experience, the young couple was tasked to purchase a gift for a departing volunteer, and found themselves in the busy Iron Market in downtown Port-au-Prince buying a painting.

To someone new to Haiti, the Iron Market was an overwhelming experience; hot and noisy, with vendors surrounding them the moment they stepped into the building.

"People asked us what we were interested in buying," Naomi recalled. "We told them we wanted a painting, and immediately many, many paintings appeared in many, many hands... I suppose you could say that was our first foray into buying Haitian art."

The longer they lived in Haiti, they more they found themselves spending their free time visiting the local art galleries, becoming familiar with local artists.

After befriending a Port-au-Prince gallery owner named Issa al Saieh, their interest blossomed into a passion, feeding a desire to learn more about the rich visual tapestry offered by this country that they had come to love. The whole Hunsberger family would spend pleasant afternoons at the gallery as a form of entertainment before the evening curfew, listening to stories and watching artists at work.

Under Issa's guidance, their understanding and appreciation for Haiti's diverse artistic styles grew, along with their collection. Over the course of 18 years in Haiti, including multiple MCC assignments and five stints as Study-Service Term (SST) leaders, they amassed a collection with more than 90 pieces of art, thought to be one of the largest in the country.

In 2014, the Hunsbergers pledged to donate their entire collection to Goshen College. In 2018, members of the Hunsberger family gave a generous lead gift to renovate the historic Union Building including a new commons space, serving as a catalyst to create a permanent and public home for their Haitian art collection and coinciding with the 50th anniversary of the SST program.

"We are honored to pass along this collection of art for future generations of students, faculty and visitors, that it might inspire an understanding of Haitian culture and the fascinating world of Haitian Art," the Hunsbergers wrote after deciding to gift the collection. "Most of all we hope that it brings pleasure and enjoyment, as it was a joy for us to collect."

Connecting virtually

WE ARE ALWAYS looking for opportunities for our current students and alumni to network in ways that will be helpful and fruitful for everyone involved. This past year, Jair Hernandez '13, a member of the Alumni Council, connected with David Kendall, GC's career networks coordinator. They decided to propose a partnership between the Alumni Council and David's office to directly connect GC students with alumni in various fields. As David notes about his and Jair's relationship, "I really want students to understand that connections with people can make things happen." They believe these meetups can serve a catalyst for more relationship building.

Goshen College recently developed a designated Career Networks room, The Link, on the first floor of Wyse Hall. It is a space for group meetings and consultations, and includes technology for video-conferencing from anywhere in the world. Jair and David decided to use this room and technology to have what they are calling Alumni Virtual Meetups. As Jair notes, "David was looking for a way to help students navigate life after college when they become alumni. I wanted to think of new ways to get the Alumni Council to make a larger impact for students and Goshen College."

The decision was made at our spring Alumni Council meetings that the council would support this effort and that council members would be the first to volunteer to share their vocational paths. By the time this is in your hands, Jair and Angela Powell '92, our council president, will have already held their meetups.

Part of the reason to write about this initiative is to let you know that we are working with alumni in this way, but we would also love to have you involved, no matter where you are in your vocational path or where you are living now. Jair notes that "there is no lack of amazing alumni out there who have unique stories of navigating life after graduating from Goshen College." At this time, we have at least one meetup scheduled per month for the coming year, with a few slots still open for interested alumni. If you want to learn more or share your story at a future Alumni Virtual Meetup, email David Kendall (davidk15@goshen.edu).

Calling all Indiana residents: Help get GC license plates

INDIANA GC FAN

We need 500 signed commitments of Indiana residents to purchase an official Goshen College license plate by Feb. 28, 2020, in order for them to be made available to Indiana drivers. If you purchase these at the BMV when they are available, $25 (of the $40 cost) will go directly to help Indiana students attend Goshen College and it is tax deductible. If you are interested, email alumni@goshen.edu and they will send you a form to return indicating your commitment to purchase a GC license plate when they are ready. And the best part is that you'll be able to show your love for your alma mater on the road!

We celebrate the generosity of our many alumni and friends who have invested in educating our students during our last fiscal year. Thank you for your significant contributions!

Honoring our donors

Lead Donors: Total Giving

We are pleased to acknowledge donors who made gifts totaling $2,500 or more to any fund for fiscal year 2018-19. They provided support for scholarships, the arts, athletics, Merry Lea, SST, Globe Media and many other areas, including unrestricted giving through the GC Fund. Whatever their special passions, we thank the following donors for their partnership in supporting transformative education at Goshen College.

Goshen College Giving Clubs

The combined giving power of GC Giving Club members is truly phenomenal, whether they join the Builders at a minimum gift of $1 per day, or the President's Circle at $25,000 or more. Five giving clubs support the GC Fund, and together, the members of these clubs provided $1,383,046 in "unrestricted" giving for fiscal year 2018-19. We gratefully acknowledge the generosity of these friends and alumni whose gifts support every student and department on campus.

Ways you can help grow Goshen

Referrals are one of our top sources for students who end up enrolling. Refer students to us who have not heard of or considered Goshen College (and make sure we have contact info for your own high school children/grandchildren), but whom you think would value this learning experience and community. goshen.edu/refer

Organize a group of high school students in your area (or your own children/grandchildren) and bring them to campus for a visit. The Admissions Office can help with your planning and with travel reimbursement. goshen.edu/visit

Pray regularly for our admission counselors on the road, prospective students traveling for a visit and for those making decisions at the college.

Donate! With your generous contributions to the Goshen College Fund and Student Aid Fund we are able to make the "Distinctively Goshen" experience accessible for all students. goshen.edu/give

Alumni Giving by Class Year

The support of Goshen College alumni is greatly appreciated. During fiscal year 2018-19, our alumni contributed $3,776,269. Each class list below is preceded by the percentage of living class members that gave and the total amount given by class. We thank and honor these generous alumni and celebrate their commitment to their alma mater.

The Elkhart Institute: 'A laudable enterprise'

BY JOE SPRINGER '80, Curator, Mennonite Historical Library

AT 9 A.M. on August 21, 1894, Henry A. Mumaw — entrepreneur, editor, homeopathic physician — opened the doors to the Elkhart Institute. A month earlier, the Elkhart Truth had heralded plans for the Institute as a "laudable enterprise; ... distinctively Elkhartan — an institution by our people and for our people." Nonetheless, according to the newspaper, the Institute would "extend a cordial invitation to the young people of adjoining towns, counties and states ... to all who may wish to receive a practical education."

Although the idea of a "Mennonite college" was being bandied about, the August launch was still a private venture. Mumaw had committed $300 personally, joined by one other Elkhart donor ($25) and 4 Ontario-based donors ($5/each). Temporary quarters were in the hall of the Grand Army of the Republic (on northwest corner of Main Street and Franklin Street in Downtown Elkhart). Mumaw's 14-year-old son Andrew was reportedly the first of 30 students enrolled that August — a number that had doubled by the end of the first 10-week term. A faculty initially consisting of four men and one woman covered a spectrum of courses from business to music, physical culture to oratory.

Six months later, stockholders of the newly-formed Elkhart Institute Association took on ownership and further development of the Institute. Before the decade was out, the Institute had built and outgrown a building in Elkhart and moved to Goshen to become Goshen College.

(Above, right) A card advertising the first term of the Elkhart Institute. Such cards and four-page pamphlets spread the word about what the Institute would offer. (A later version of this card had the ambitious tagline: "The medical preparatory school of the U.S. and Canada.")

Past, present, future

It wasn't so long ago that Jason Samuel '92 (left, in a 1992 yearbook photo) and Duane Stoltzfus '81 (right, and in the bottom left of this 1978 yearbook photo of The Record staff) were Goshen College students. Now, as professors in the Communication Department and, respectively, general manager for The Globe, 91.1FM WGCS and advisor for The Record, they truly know what it will mean for their students when all of the department's co-curriculars are in one home together in the renovated west wing of Newcomer Center in Fall 2020, a project just recently announced. After years of being spread out across campus, it is time for the facilities to match the caliber of their award-winning programs.

This project will include: The Globe, 91.1FM WGCS radio station | TV studio and video production suite for Globe TV | Record digital media convergence newsroom | Awards showcase

Our new, distinctively Goshen mission

BY REBECCA J. STOLTZFUS '83, President of Goshen College

"WHERE THERE IS no vision, the people perish." This familiar Proverb (29:18, KJV) is freshly paraphrased in The Message: "If people can't see what God is doing, they stumble all over themselves." Well, we certainly can't afford that!

What if God is the lead actor, and our vision and mission are a matter of aligning with God's work in the world in 2019? In these first 18 months that I have been president, we have worked to make visible what God is doing as we have discerned new mission and vision statements for the college. If ever there was a time to be crystal clear about them, this is it. As higher education becomes more and more generic and secular, we asked what is our distinctive, Spirit-led mission?

Our new mission statement is a fresh articulation of what we do today, and what we have been doing for nearly 125 years. We transform communities by acting as courageous, creative and compassionate leaders. In claiming the word "leaders" in this way, it is clear that we are not talking about job titles or positions. Rather, leadership is a form of social and spiritual influence that transcends position.

How do we nurture transformative leaders? By combining the key ingredients of academic excellence, real-world experience and active love of God and neighbor. This is what makes us "distinctively Goshen."

Our new vision statement arose from the many "Soup Talks" around our dinner table in the first two months of my presidency with 128 students and employees. And this vision statement is meant to focus our work for the next five to seven years.

From faculty, staff and students we heard the call for a greater sense of joy, growth and purpose as hallmarks of the Goshen experience. And we envision staying rooted in the ways of Jesus that are bringing about inclusive community and transformative justice in the students we welcome to our campus and in the skills and dispositions with which we equip them.

For all of us who belong to Goshen College, it is our unique privilege to steward our mission and to bring our vision to life through our lives, programs, teaching and relationships. And a particular thanks to each of you for being living embodiments of our mission as you serve your communities and the world as courageous, creative and compassionate leaders.

NEW MISSION

Goshen College transforms local and global communities through courageous, creative and compassionate leaders. Shaped by Anabaptist-Mennonite tradition, we integrate academic excellence and real-world experience with active love for God and neighbor.

NEW VISION

Goshen College will cultivate joy, growth and purpose, preparing students to thrive in life, leadership and service.

Rooted in the way of Jesus, we will seek inclusive community and transformative justice in all that we do.

About the cover

The wall hanging featured on the cover was pieced by Goshen College Professor of Music Debra Detwiler '79 and Shirley (Claassen) Dick '75 and quilted by Meredith (Lambright) Yoder '66. It was given as a gift to Marilyn Rudy-Froese '85 when she left her pastorate at Berkey Avenue Mennonite Fellowship in 2017. The quilt symbolically represents how Goshen College is "shaped by Anabaptist-Mennonite tradition" and seeks "inclusive community and transformative justice in all that we do." As well, we chose this as the cover in tribute to Deb after her too-early death on April 22, 2019. Deb's life and work were committed to the themes of this issue — diversity, equity, inclusion and global citizenship — and this quilt beautifully captures those ideas with its circles, the interconnectedness, the darkness and the light. For this journey we are on — as Deb well knew — is not straight, is complex, is never complete and is filled with great joys and challenges.

FIND MENNO

We heard from 61 of you who correctly found Menno in the Fall/Winter 2018 issue on page 25, sitting on the table during the Study-Service Term search conference. We are sure that Menno Simons would have had an opinion about what the future of global education should look like!

From the correct submissions, we chose five lucky winners at random to receive limited-edition Goshen College T-shirts:

1. Glenn Buller '77
   Bluffton, Ohio
2. Gordon Burck, relative of an alum
   Washington, D.C.
3. Debbie Miller, spouse of an alum
   Engadine, Michigan
4. Gavin Nyce, son of Rustin Nyce '02 and Kimberly Lichty-Nyce '02
   Goshen
5. Stephanie Thompson '76
   Newton, Kansas

We love hearing from all of you as you find where Menno is hiding (he looks just like the photo at the top, just smaller). So, when you do, submit your entry to gcbulletin@goshen.edu by July 30, 2019, for a chance to win. Be sure to include your name, address, T-shirt size and graduation year/affiliation with Goshen College.

WGCS merges radio, television with new website and video platform 'Globe TV'

In February, 91.1 The Globe (WGCS) launched a new website and video broadcasting platform, called Globe TV, to add new content to the station's programming. The official launch included a tour of the newly-renovated 4K TV studio (left).

Globe TV consists of Globe News, to provide more Goshen community news, and Globe Sports, to add more video to its award-winning Goshen College Maple Leaf Athletics coverage.

Globe News, in addition to the radio news reports, has video stories featuring human interest and music news in and around the Goshen community. New video stories appear weekly on GlobeRadio.org and a monthly TV studio show, "The Globe News Report," recap the months best stories.

Senior Emily Stoltzfus wins annual peace oratorical contest

Emily Stoltzfus '19 (right), a social work major from Goshen, won the 2019 C. Henry Smith Peace Oratorical Contest and $500 in prize money on Feb. 12 with her speech titled "Getting the Words Right: Rethinking our Measures of Education."

Stoltzfus spoke about how schools measure the success of their students, and that the ways they do this don't always take all factors into account and can lead to negative outcomes for the students.

Taking second place was Mandira Panta '20, a sustainability studies major from Bhaktapur, Nepal, with her speech titled, "Why Climate Change?" The other contestants included Deborah Tshidimu '19, a nursing major from Kinshasa, Democratic Republic of Congo, whose speech was titled "The Human in Me: How MJ Shaped the Heart of a Congolese Girl"; and Ronit Goswami '22, an exercise science major from Goshen, whose speech was titled "Interfaith Exploration and Learning."

70-year-old mural revealed in Union Building

A mural painted by former art professor Art Sprunger in 1949, depicting student life on the Goshen College campus, was revealed in December after being hidden behind wall panels for nearly four decades.

About 50 people gathered to see the mural as it was unveiled and hear about its history from Joe Springer '80 (above), Mennonite Historical Library curator.

The mural, located on the south wall of the Leaf Raker Snack Shop in the Union Building, was covered in wood paneling in the early 1980s as part of major renovations to the snack shop area. It was revealed as part of the beginning stages of the current Union Building Renovation and Revitalization project (learn more at goshen.edu/union).

Sprunger (1897-1972) taught art classes on Saturday mornings at GC from 1927 until 1954, when GC hired Ezra Hershberger as the first full-time art professor. The mural is believed to be the largest work Sprunger created.

Ecuador added as newest SST location

Goshen College will move the location of its Spanish-speaking study abroad program, Study-Service Term (SST), in South America from Peru to Ecuador beginning in the fall of 2019. Indigenous cultures and sustainability will be two key themes of this new location.

Tom Meyers '75, director of international education, cited logistical issues in Peru, as well as a new partnership opportunity in Ecuador, as the main reasons for the change. Since 2005, more than 600 Goshen College students in 37 different units have studied and served in Peru.

The Cofán Survival Fund, an organization dedicated to the survival of the Cofán indigenous culture and its Amazonian rain forest environment, will be the program's official sponsor and partner.

Students will visit the Amazon rainforest and other cultural and historic sites, study Spanish language and Ecuadorian culture and history in Quito and travel to smaller towns and villages for the service portion of the semester. As with the program in Peru, a sign language track will be available every other year.

It will take place year-round, sending students in the fall, spring and summer semesters. Ecuador will be the 25th country to host SST groups from Goshen College in the 50 years that the program has existed. Other current locations include China, Indonesia, Senegal and Tanzania.

At 17, Mikol Aspinwall '19 is GC's youngest graduate

In April, Mikol Aaron Merino Aspinwall '19 (above) graduated with a degree in computer science, and at age 17, is believed to be the youngest graduate in the college's history.

Aspinwall arrived at Goshen College at the age of 13. Originally from Phoenix, Aspinwall is used to being ahead of his age group. He built his first computer at the age of five with his dad and helped his mother streamline her eBay business. He started attending high school at the age of nine and audited classes at Arizona State University before moving to Goshen.

While at GC, Aspinwall started the college's Esports club, helped build a walking tour app for the Goshen Historical Society, managed websites and cyber security protocols for several local companies and works remotely at Blink Labs, a start-up social media firm in Silicon Valley. He is currently working with two other GC seniors on a start-up drink called "Local," which is seed-funded and hopes to "bring local artists together with the local community through sparkling water with an all-natural sweet twist."

"In college the most important thing I've learned is how to work really well with people and learn how to get the best out of other people in order to meet common goals," Aspinwall said. "I've also learned a lot about how important other people can be and that vocation isn't all there is to life."

Along with his drink venture, his future plans include grad school and possibly someday returning to GC as a professor. He says "The sky's the limit."

Students advocate for state hate crimes legislation

Six Goshen College students and an administrator told members of the Indiana Senate on Feb. 18 that it is past time for the Hoosier state to pass a law allowing judges to impose stricter sentences for those convicted of threatening or harming people or damaging their property because of their age, ancestry, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability or religion.

(Above) Sandra Cortez '21, Emily Bennett '21, Gabe Miller '21, Zack Begly '21, Lizeth Ochoa '21 and Christi Sessa '21 (not pictured), along with Community Impact Coordinator Richard R. Aguirre, testified in support of Senate Bill 12 during a hearing of the Senate Public Policy Committee at the state capitol in Indianapolis.

In August, President Stoltzfus signed a letter supporting hate crimes legislation, joining 23 other higher education leaders from around Indiana calling for a hate crimes law.

In March, after the bill was "gutted," President Stoltzfus again joined other leaders from Indiana colleges and universities in signing a letter seeking stronger language in Indiana hate crimes legislation.

SCOREBOARD FALL/WINTER 2018-19

CL = Crossroads League | WHAC = Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference

MEN'S SOCCER (7-9-2, 2-5-2 CL)

Stuart Aeschliman (Salem, Oregon) was named to the all-Crossroads League first team after a sophomore season that included a team-high 10 goals, exactly one-fourth of the team's output. Senior Spencer Aeschliman (Salem, Oregon) was a second-team pick after dropping in a team-high five assists. The Maple Leafs outscored their opponents 40-29.

WOMEN'S SOCCER (6-8-2, 2-7 CL)

Sophomore goalkeeper Katie Baer (Villa Ridge, Missouri) and senior defender Carolina Villalobos Palacios (Cartago, Costa Rica) each took home Crossroads League honorable mentions. Baer made 146 saves in 16 games and the defense recorded 5 shutouts on the season, allowing 1 goal in a 5-match stretch from Aug. 28 to Sept. 15. Allison Ebersole (Lafayette, Colorado) led the team with 4 goals and Lauren Cernak (Granger, Indiana) added 4 assists.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL (9-25, 3-15 CL)

Sophomore middle hitter Elizabeth Breckbill (Kidron, Ohio) was a second-team all-conference selection after leading the team with 253 kills and 96 blocks. Sophomore Taylor Eash (Topeka, Indiana), senior MacKinnon Tracy (New Carlisle, Indiana) and first-year Naomi Willis (Mishawaka, Indiana) received honorable mentions: Willis had a team-high 422 assists and Tracy led all players with 311 digs.

MEN'S TENNIS (11-4, 7-2 CL)

A trio of Maple Leafs earned all-conference honors after the team finished third in league play, won its conference tournament quarterfinal and finished an unbeaten fall season at home. Sophomores Danny Boussom (Goshen) and Martim Cafe (Dubai, United Arab Emirates) were joined by senior Juan Miguel Ciudad (Valencia, Spain) on the all-conference list. The team's 11 wins tied a program record.

WOMEN'S TENNIS (2-14, 1-8 CL)

The Maple Leafs opened the season with a two-match win streak and were in the conference playoff picture until the final match of the season. Senior Chloe Woodward (Newton, Kansas) led the team in wins.

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY (3RD IN CL)

Senior Vincent Kibunja (Nakuru, Kenya) finished in the top 10 of every regular-season race, taking third place at the conference meet to earn all-Crossroads League recognition. He ran a career-best time of 24:54.6 for 8 kilometers (4.97 miles) at the Louisville Classic on Sept. 29, posting the second-fastest time in program history, and finished 110th at the national meet.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY (9TH IN CL)

Junior Siana Emery (North Yarmouth, Maine) and sophomore Sierra Ross Richer (Goshen) each clocked personal-best times as the Maple Leafs took ninth at the conference meet Nov. 3, with Ross Richer leading the team in 35th place. Ariana Perez Diener (Goshen) had paced the team two weeks prior with a 20th-place finish at the NAIA Great Lakes Challenge as Goshen finished 10th, beating a season-high four teams.

MEN'S BASKETBALL (8-22, 2-16 CL)

Senior Demarkus Stuckey (Saginaw, Michigan) took the Crossroads League by storm, averaging 21.3 points per game and shooting 42 percent from the floor to earn all-conference honors. He also authored the most memorable shot of the season, a 3-point basket with 1.7 seconds remaining to upset top-ranked Indiana Wesleyan University on Feb. 2 in Gunden Gymnasium. Alhassan Barrie (Antwerp, Belgium) led the team with 5.5 rebounds per game and 24 blocks.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL (8-22, 1-17 CL)

First-year Graysen Cockerham (Brighton, Michigan) led the Maple Leafs with 12.9 points per game, taking home third-team all-conference honors and earning a spot on the Crossroads League all-freshman team. TaNiece Chapman (Fort Wayne, Indiana), also a first-year, led the team with 6.8 rebounds per game and senior Haley Archibeque (Sylvania, Ohio) graduated with the second-most games played in program history.

MEN'S VOLLEYBALL (8-21, 0-8 WHAC)

In the first addition to Goshen's sport lineup since 1993, the Maple Leafs earned their first win on Jan. 24. First-year outside hitter Alexander Rabadzhiev (Razlog, Bulgaria) finished second in the NAIA with 426 kills and 28th in the nation with 195 digs while classmate Andy Bennett (Franklin, Indiana) added 77 blocks. Sophomore Nick Yutzy (Iowa City, Iowa), who was 11th in the NAIA in digs per set, and head coach Jim Daugherty were named to the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Champions of Character team.

NEW HEAD COACHES AND ATHLETIC STAFF

KOURTNEY CRAWFORD

Kourtney Crawford took the reins of the women's volleyball program in March when Jim Routhier retired after 10 seasons at the helm. Crawford is a University of Indianapolis graduate, winning third-team all-conference honors there in 2009 and helping the Greyhounds to an average of more than 30 wins per season from 2009-12. She has worked on the club scene for six seasons, spending two years as an assistant in Indianapolis high schools before returning to her alma mater as an assistant in 2017.

SAMANTHA EMMART

Samantha Emmart is the new coordinator for compliance, student services and kinesiology. Emmart arrived in February from Houghton College, her alma mater, where she was an assistant in the compliance office as well as an assistant coach for cross country and track and field and a sports information assistant. In her new position, Emmart is in charge of Goshen's efforts in compliance, retention, academic support and student-athlete development. She will also serve as co-advisor to the new Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and coordinate special athletic events.

JULIACLARE PLEZBERT

Juliaclare Plezbert took over as head softball coach before the 2019 season. Plezbert comes to Goshen after spending the last three seasons at Oklahoma Wesleyan University in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, where she helped the Eagles to two NAIA tournament appearances. She played collegiately at Indiana Tech from 2012-15, winning three academic all-conference awards from the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. On Feb. 2, she became the first GC softball coach to win her inaugural game.

NEW ATHLETIC AWARDS: THE LEAFYS

The Maple Leafs recognized some of their brightest moments of the 2018-19 athletic year on April 14 at the Leafys awards banquet. The program included the presentation of "G" letters to senior student-athletes as well as team-specific awards determined by each head coach.

Major departmental award winners included:

Team Service Award: Men's basketball

Play of the Year: Demarkus Stuckey's game-winning 3-pointer to defeat top-ranked Indiana Wesleyan (men's basketball, Feb. 2)

Victories of the Year: Baseball sweeps 20th-ranked Taylor in a three-game series with every contest decided by one run (March 28, April 2)

Maple Leaf Character Award: Tanner Camp (men's basketball; Fremont, Ind.)

Male Rookie of the Year: Alexander Rabadzhiev (men's volleyball; Razlog, Bulgaria)

Female Rookie of the Year: Jessica Bachtell (softball; Chula Vista, Calif.)

Coach of the Year: Rustin Nyce '02, men's and women's cross country and track and field

John Ingold Award for Excellence: Spencer Aeschliman (men's soccer; Salem, Oregon)

Ruth Gunden Award for Excellence: Caitlyn O'Neal (women's soccer; Russiaville, Ind.)

Male Student-Athlete of the Year: Vincent Kibunja (men's cross country/track and field; Nakuru, Kenya)

Female Student-Athlete of the Year: Suzette Rodriguez (women's track and field, Goshen)

Scholar-Team of the Year: Men's tennis

Male Scholar-Athlete: Spencer Aeschliman (men's soccer; Salem, Oregon)

Female Scholar-Athlete: Carolina Villalobos Palacios (women's soccer; Cartago, Costa Rica)

OUR COMMITMENTS TO DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION

BY PRESIDENT REBECCA STOLTZFUS '83

I AM CONVINCED that we — Goshen College — cannot achieve our mission without our collective and conscious work toward diversity, equity and inclusion.

What are the foundation and cornerstones of the house we want to build at Goshen College?

The foundation of this house — that we are created in the image of God — makes every one of us deeply beloved and unspeakably precious. If we do not speak about it and be reminded of it in our words, rituals and social arrangements, we know what happens. In every time and culture, people who are not grounded in universal human sacredness regress toward bias and discrimination and in the extreme, genocide. Our need for affirmation, our hunger for worthiness, is so profound, that without healthy religion or some other way to stay grounded on this foundation, we create a false worthiness by thinking that people like us are more worthy than others.

OUR WORKING DEFINITIONS OF DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION

DIVERSITY is the sum of the ways that people are both different and similar. Diversity has many dimensions that intersect in a wide variety of ways; these dimensions include race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, language, culture, religion, mental and physical ability, class, immigration status and others.

EQUITY entails an intentional focus to reduce disparities in opportunities, experiences and outcomes for all members of the campus community. Equity is expressed in a commitment to address historical and current manifestations of social bias and exclusion, including the ways in which social arrangements disadvantage some groups and legitimate others.

INCLUSION means belonging to a campus environment in which people are welcomed, accepted and connected to one another. Community members come together in friendly, caring and authentic ways, and have opportunities to participate in community life and its ongoing evolution.

◀ See page 1 for information about the artwork.

Upon this foundation, I want to place four cornerstones that further define the nature and motivations of our world house.

The first cornerstone is truth seeking.

Because of our biases and our highly subjective nature as humans, approaching a question or an event or a thing from multiple viewpoints is the most effective way for us to seek the truth.

At its best, our truth-seeking conversations include diversities of experience, intelligence, identity and academic discipline. And the conversations advance our understanding through creative conflict, not competition or dominance. Research shows us that diverse groups make better decisions than groups that are less diverse.

The second cornerstone is social mobility and economic thriving.

Goshen College transforms communities, and that means enabling all families and citizens to enter the social economy. At Goshen, 58 percent of our traditional undergraduate students are relatively low-income, defined by eligibility for Federal Pell or Stafford Loans. Thirty percent of our first-year students are first-generation college students.

And education is the most effective way to get people into better careers and thus better lives. The lifetime wage difference of someone with a bachelor's degree compared to someone with a high school diploma is around $1 million.

The third cornerstone is the sheer joy of human connection.

The greatest source of happiness in life is human relationships and connection. Inclusion means belonging to a campus environment in which people are welcomed, accepted by and connected to one another. If we are increasingly able to be open to one another, to connect and belong to one another, we will be more joyful. In a welcoming community, diversity is a source of surprise, wonder and discovery.

The fourth cornerstone is justice.

While it is true that we crave self-worth and self-affirmation, it is also true that we long for justice. We know in our bones and in our hearts that the injustices in our society are wrong, and they hurt us all. We are called to be a college where injustice is revealed and remedied.

Our vision is to seek inclusive community and transformative justice in all that we do. And to do that we need to teach and learn about historical and present forces that perpetuate injustice, as well as creative social movements and action that dismantle oppression.

This work is not easy. And it is not comfortable. We will make mistakes. And so we will learn and we will do better. And it will be highly rewarding, both personally and collectively. Let's build this house together.

This article was adapted from President Stoltzfus' remarks during convocation on Jan. 16, 2019. The full text of the speech is available at goshen.edu/president*.*

President Stoltzfus:

MY SEVEN COMMITMENTS AS WE WORK TOWARDS GREATER DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION:

1. I will remember that we are all in this together.
2. I commit to see differences and similarities as always present. I will try to be alert and aware and curious about diversity so that I can be more effective as a leader, and more genuine as a friend.
3. I commit to regularly take stock of the privileges that I enjoy, unearned, by virtue of who I am, and to extend privileges to others who have less.
4. I will reach out to develop friendships with people different from me.
5. I commit to practice centered listening: listening without taking it personally.
6. I commit to keeping the new mission and vision of Goshen College at the center of my work.
7. I commit to speaking up when I see opportunities to seek inclusive community and transformative justice in all that we do.

Gayatri Patnaik '90:

My global journey to Goshen

Brian Yoder Schlabach '07

AT SEVEN YEARS OLD, Gayatri Patnaik's '90 world changed. Having lived the first years of her life with her grandmother in New Delhi, India, she came to the United States to join her mother and older brother in rural Grantsville, Maryland, where her mother worked at nearby Frostburg State College (now Frostbury State University). Like many immigrants, coming here was a shock to the system.

"It turned my life upside down," she said. "In my case, I didn't speak English, had never seen white people, had only ever eaten Indian vegetarian food, was Hindu, hadn't ever seen snow, but most profoundly, I was coming to meet my mother and older brother who I simply had no memory of."

In the midst of this confusing time, Patnaik met Ruth (pictured at right together) and Alva Yoder. Ruth taught third grade and her sister Esther Yoder '46 was principal at the Yoder School, a quaint four-room, white-frame schoolhouse.

"As was the case with much of my life at the time, I really didn't know what to make of Ruth and Alva in the beginning," she said. "Obviously, I knew we weren't related to them. In fact, I don't know if we had anything in common with Ruth, her family or her community."

Yoder became a surrogate grandmother to Patnaik and her brother, and had a profound and lasting impact on them. They spent many weekends and holidays with them, occasionally joining them for church. Ruth changed the arc of Patnaik's life in many ways, including introducing her to Goshen College.

When Patnaik was a student at Goshen College, she would visit Ruth, who had moved to nearby Greencroft, a local retirement community. On one visit, she decided to ask a question that had been on her mind for years: Why had Ruth made such a commitment to Patnaik's family? After all, after raising four children and working incredibly hard, Ruth and Alva were close to retirement, were busy in the community and had their own grandchildren.

"I'll never forget her response. She said, 'Before you came to America, I was playing with your brother one day, and I heard God say to me: Take care of this family. And so I did,'" Patnaik said.

photo provided

"That was all Ruth had to say about that. It was that simple for her."

Ruth taught Patnaik how to choose to live a life that exemplifies global vision and action.

"Ruth embodied the values instilled at Goshen College to heed the call to serve," Patnaik said. "She's also an excellent example of global citizenship because although she never left the U.S., she never let borders get in the way of loving or reaching out to people."

Gayatri Patnaik '90, editorial director of Beacon Press in Boston, was the keynote speaker at Goshen College's 121st commencement ceremony on Sunday, April 28, 2019. This story is adapted from her speech. The full text of her speech is available at goshen.edu/news.

THE FUTURE OF SST:

global education for all

BY JAN BENDER SHETLER '78
professor of history and incoming director of international education

LIKE MANY Goshen alumni, my Study-Service Term experience (Haiti, 1975) profoundly affected my life and career choices. What I learned there and what has continued to animate my work and scholarship as a historian of Africa is the fundamental conviction that we must learn to see the world from someone else's perspective — to understand the complex ways that their lives have been shaped by the past and how deeply we are all intertwined in that story. As a young, idealistic college student in Haiti, I learned that in order to play any role in changing systems that impoverish some and enrich others I had to be able to understand it from the perspective of Haiti's poor. Now that I have led SST units in Ethiopia, Tanzania and Senegal, I see that same transformation in our current students.

This program matters to a lot of us and it is still a core Goshen College distinctive. But given the reality of the reduction in the percentage of students participating in SST (see chart below), we have realized that its future needs to be reimagined and shaped in a way that ensures that we are truly providing a global education for all.

In addition to noting the reduction in participation, we have also observed that there is a large gap between the percentage of students going on SST who are white and those who are students of color (see chart on page 20). They face increasing financial and scheduling barriers that keep them from taking advantage of the program. In addition, we know we need to increase and improve our communication of the tangible benefits of a global education to prospective students, current students and their parents.

During this 50th anniversary year of SST, the whole campus participated in a process of evaluation and imagining our ideal future. The year began with a Search Conference over a long weekend in September at Camp Amigo and ended with a campus conference in March. Guest speakers, faculty and students led sessions discussing different aspects of a global education geared to everyone's needs.

The proposed changes in the program recommit us to the original 1968 vision of SST: to make this learning part of the general education program without extra cost. Lots of ideas emerged at the conference to revitalize and improve the program as the core distinctive of a Goshen College education that prepares students to become effective agents of change in a complex global society. We are excited about launching a series of initiatives next year to put in place various paths toward an immersive intercultural global education for everyone.

Here are some of the highlights of our convictions and plans:

1. SST is still a Goshen College distinctive. We will improve and adapt it for a new set of students and a new global context.
2. We want a unified program with one set of outcomes that are immersive and intercultural. Every Goshen student will be part of the program.
3. We will devise different global education pathways to achieve the same set of learning goals: local and global, short and long. We believe that we can have immersive global and intercultural experiences domestically as well as abroad.
4. We will remove financial and scheduling impediments for students so that everyone can participate. This includes large majors as well as co-curriculars, like athletics.
5. We will develop scholarship and program growth by inviting investment in the SST endowment.
6. We will better communicate our unique global education outcomes for careers and lives to highlight the excellence of our program.
7. We will continue to improve the traditional SST global education program.

This anniversary year has generated a lot of momentum on campus to renew our vision for global education and make it accessible for everyone. We are excited about the prospects going forward and hope you will join us with your ideas, gifts and blessings.

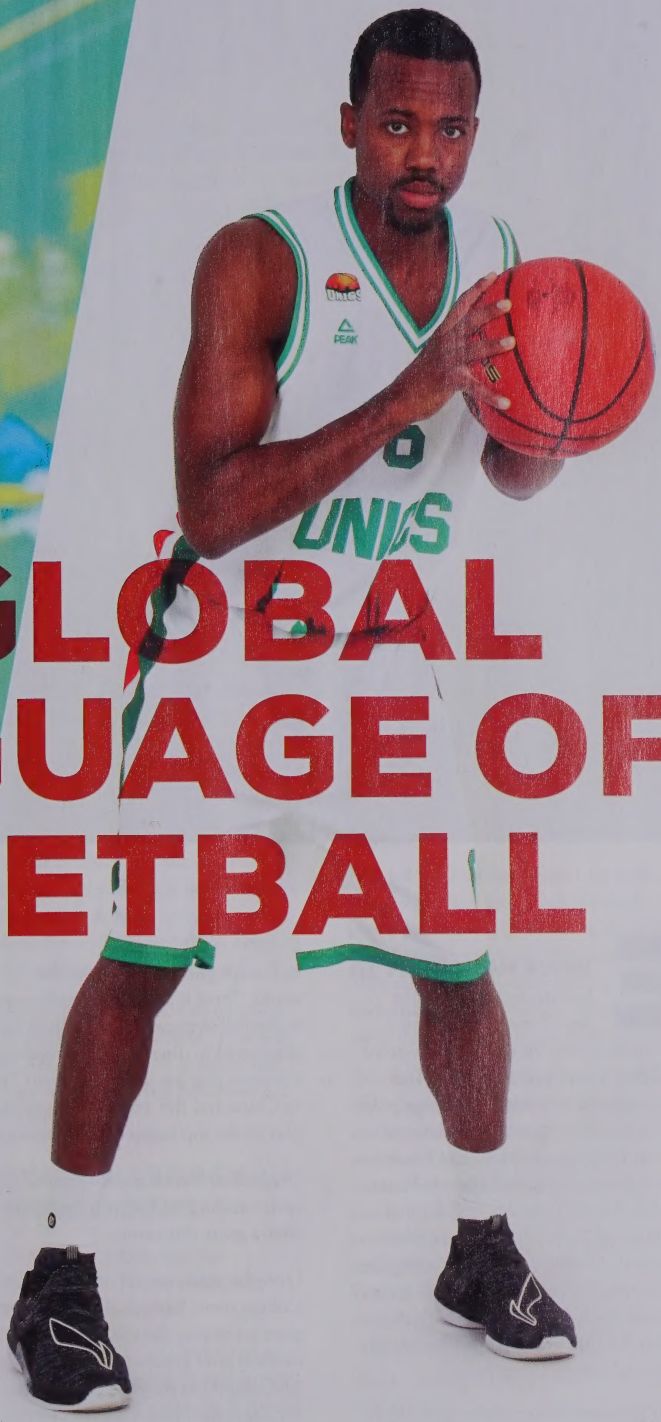
THE GLOBAL LANGUAGE OF BASKETBALL



Photos provided by UNICS KAZAN

UNICS KAZAN

ERRICK MCCOLLUM '10 had the basketball at the top of the key and sank a 3-pointer, giving his team a seven-point lead they would not relinquish. That long-distance bomb ignited a large puff of smoke above his team's basket, and fans of the green-clad Unics of Kazan — a professional basketball team in Kazan, Russia, that plays in the VTB United League and EuroCup — roared their approval. A banner in Russian a few feet behind the basket said "We are Together" in both English and Russian. Another sign in English said "While I breathe, I hope and believe in my team."

That devotion to the local club — be it soccer or basketball — is not uncommon in Europe and other parts of the world. There is also some quirkiness to basketball overseas, as McCollum has discovered in nine years of a vagabond existence that has taken him from Turkey to China and this season to Russia for play in the top league in that country.

"Basketball is such a global sport," he said, standing on the court in Kazan after a game this season.

Over the years, several other Goshen College men's basketball players have also gone on to play the sport professionally overseas after graduation as well, though McCollum has seen the most success. He has helped lead his team Overseas Elite to four consecutive championship wins in the annual The Basketball Tournament and he set a record in the Chinese professional league in 2015 for the most points in a game with 82 when he played for the Zhejiang Golden Bulls.

COMING TO GOSHEN

McCollum, 31, grew up in Canton, Ohio and dealt mostly with two cultures — African-American and Caucasian. That changed when he got to Goshen. "It allowed me to see different cultures," he said. "Goshen introduced me to different cultures and people. I was a bit close-minded back then, but [at GC] I met students from different countries who changed my perspective. I began to immerse myself in other cultures beside my own. Those friends I met taught me about their traditions."

"What I appreciated about Errick was his loyalty to Goshen College and his teammates. He could have transferred to a higher level after his [first] year when there was a coaching change, but instead he decided to stay and finish out his career at Goshen," said Gary Chupp, former men's basketball head coach.

A GLOBAL CAREER

After a standout college performance — he holds the single season and career scoring records in men's basketball, and in his senior year one of his dunks made it on to ESPN SportsCenter's Top 10 plays — he graduated in 2010 with a degree in business. Since then he has seen the world through basketball, also playing for teams in Greece and Israel.

"I enjoy seeing different places/cultures, going somewhere new and just adapting," he said. "Each country is a new adventure and every place has something historic or a sight to behold. I've been blessed to see many places. I've visited 20 different countries so far through basketball."

"God blessed me with the ability and talent to play basketball," he added. "I took that gift, worked extremely hard and maximized it. Yes, it's true not many guys coming from smaller colleges play at the professional level, but when God has something for you, nothing can get in the way of that. Here I am nine years into my career, just blessed. I just try and glorify God's name and represent my family and everything associated with me in a positive manner."

The 6-foot, 1-inch McCollum had several teammates this season in Russia who had impressive Division I pedigrees and even some NBA experience, but it was McCollum who played point guard in key stretches for the team in Kazan.

"He is an amazing player," said his teammate Jordan Carmichael. "He brings all the things you would want in a teammate in Europe. He's selfless, very skilled and can play the one and two guard spots and is the best shooter I have ever been around. He is very talented and such a veteran leader, which helps me so much on and off the court."

UNICS KAZAN

McCollum has gotten used to adapting to new countries and cultures. That was also true in Kazan, which is about 500 miles east of Moscow and has about 1.2 million people.

LEAVING A LEGACY OFF THE COURT

"Life in Kazan is a little like the Midwest," he said. "Except it's colder and more snow."

McCollum's brother, C.J., was a star at Division I Lehigh University and is now a standout in the NBA with the Portland Trailblazers. They have remained close and both try to be role models off the court.

Last fall the brothers teamed up with an Akron, Ohio food bank for their first annual turkey giveaway to provide Thanksgiving meals for 200 families. They also host a summer youth basketball camp in Akron, mentoring more than 100 kids in their hometown.

"My brother and I talk almost every day," the Goshen grad said. "We watch and keep up with each other's games, and push each other on and off the court. He's my little brother, my workout buddy, business partner all in one. We have a very unique relationship that has pushed us to excel at an extremely high level on the court, but what I'm most proud of is the difference that we have been able to make off the court."

Giving something back

AS I WRITE THIS, I'm basking in the glow of another successful International Student Club Coffeehouse. Recently more than 100 students (domestic and international) and others prepared a wonderful meal for more than 400 people and an amazing show for more than 750 people. What an extravaganza of tastes, sights and sounds!

There are many things I love about this evening. Perhaps my favorite part though is getting to honor a few junior international students who have been nominated by their fellow international students and faculty to receive scholarships for their work and engagement with the campus community and beyond. This year four students were honored: Yejin Kim, a music major and Spanish minor from South Korea; Mandira Panta, a sustainability major and peace, justice and conflict studies minor from Nepal; Nithya Abraham, a music and mathematics double major and musical theater minor from India; and Nasim Rasoulipour, an interdisciplinary major from Iran. Such amazing young women!

What's equally amazing though is that these awards are funded each year by three of our international student alumni who wanted to give back to their college, and to current international students specifically. In fact, one award is named the "Giving Something Back" scholarship. It is funded by Raj Biyani '92 and is an endowed scholarship in honor of his enterprising and philanthropic grandfather. The other award given out at the coffeehouse is funded by brothers Tim '82 and Sam Manickam '87.

I love that these students get recognized for the amazing things they do to make this campus, community and world a better place. I also equally love that these loyal alumni have committed themselves to support future generations of international students.

My challenge to anyone reading this is to think about what you are doing to give back. Like Raj, Tim and Sam, I invite you to consider a gift to the Student Aid Fund or the GC Fund to help make a GC education more affordable and accessible for all students.

Subscribe to the president's new blog

President Stoltzfus began a new blog in January called "Distinctively Goshen," featuring regular and intimate reflections about what's happening on campus, interesting people she's met, conversations she's part of and higher education today. Subscribe today so that you don't miss out: goshen.edu/president-blog/subscribe.

Still time to give this year

"On behalf of our fellow students, thank you for taking our calls, sharing your stories with us and fulfilling your pledges for our annual phonathons! We are continuing to make calls, and hope you will answer your phone and make a gift before June 30 (the end of our fiscal year) to help make college more affordable for our students. So far we've received $86,820 in gifts and pledges from our fall and spring phonathons. Help us reach our goal of $100,000 by the end of the fiscal year. You can also give online at goshen.edu/give, or by mail: Development Office, 1700 S. Main St., Goshen, IN 46526." — Aaron Lambert '21 and Lucia Aryee '20, phonathon student coordinators

Prepare for your class reunion by connecting on Facebook

In preparation for Homecoming Weekend and to help classmates reconnect, we have created a Facebook group for each graduating class since 1950. In addition to catching up and conversation, you can post photos, add files, create events or conduct a poll question just for members of the group. Please invite your classmates to join if they haven't already. You can find links at goshen.edu/alumni under "Stay Connected."

Annual report available online

Goshen College's 2017-18 annual report is available for viewing online at goshen.edu/give under "News & Reports." It is one opportunity to reflect back on the past year and say a big "thank you" to each of the individuals, churches and organizations that supported the college's students and mission during this past fiscal year. Every donation matters!

New book of JLB's writings published

A new book, titled "Mennonite Ethics: From Isolation to Engagement," written by former Goshen College President J. Lawrence Burkholder '39 and edited by Lauren Friesen '85 (FriesenPress, 2018), is now available online.

Burkholder served as a professor in Goshen College's Bible, Religion and Philosophy Department from 1949-1961, and later as president from 1971-1984. Friesen, who was professor of drama at Goshen College from 1982-97, is the David M. French Professor Emeritus at the University of Michigan and Burkholder's son-in-law.

"Over the past few years, I have been editing these volumes and now they appear under one cover," Friesen said. "Two of the manuscripts were never published and therefore appear in print for the first time."

Burkholder was a sectarian realist who advocated nonviolent activism in order to engage the faith community with the power structures that guide society and politics. He encouraged the Mennonite church to move beyond its tradition of withdrawal and separatism in order to renew its spirit. Burkholder assumed that people of faith, and especially Mennonites, should impact social and political structures through nonviolent action, and thereby make those systems more just and peaceful. Any withdrawal of that responsibility was, according to his thinking, a denial of the Gospel itself.

Abner Hershberger '60 takes his Midwest art to NYC

Fulfilling a long-held dream, Goshen College Professor Emeritus of Art Abner Hershberger '60 (above with President Stoltzfus at the opening) showed his recent mixed-media paintings in his first one-person show in New York City at the National Arts Club Gregg Gallery, from March 4-29, 2019. The exhibit, "Abner Hershberger: Recent Paintings," was comprised of 25 paintings and mixed media works, and it opened on his 85th birthday.

"It's gratifying to have work pulled together in a good way, in a good gallery which shows it properly, and to have many of my friends and former students come by and take a look because they remember the earlier things I had done," Hershberger said in a Goshen News interview.

Hershberger uses acrylic paints and silk-screened prints to create multimedia pieces. He fuses together images of his rural childhood with abstract and colorful shapes.

"Throughout my career as an art professor and exhibiting artist, my work has been inspired by the Midwest landscape of North Dakota where I grew up," Hershberger said. "An abstracted aerial perspective of the various farm crops and textures, cultivation patterns, irrigation influences, and seasonal variations has provided unending subject matter to explore artistically."

Hershberger's work can be viewed at abnerhershberger.com.

Janis Miller '81 assists Nobel Peace Prize research

Janis Miller '81, a researcher in the University of Michigan's School of Nursing, is a close research partner to Denis Mukwege, who received the Nobel Peace Prize in 2018 for his work to end sexual violence against women in armed conflict in the Democratic Republic of Congo.

"I feel like there has been a need to be patient when the cause has demanded impatience," said Miller, who has partnered with Mukwege's Panzi Hospital in the Democratic Republic of Congo for close to a decade. "The Nobel Prize to Dr. Mukwege gives a voice to the survivors of sexual violence who have been hidden from the public eye for so long."

Their partnership started when Miller spent a day with the Congolese doctor in 2010, and although she couldn't speak French and his English was limited, the two clicked.

"We bonded over our mutual interest in helping women whose bottom ends have seen the worst side of the world," said Miller, whose expertise includes recovery from pelvic tissue trauma in childbirth and the resulting physical and psychological distress.

Tiffany Friesen '91 joins neighbors to change street name

Tiffany Friesen '91 and her husband Atiba Mbiwan (both pictured above) have lived in Atlanta, Georgia, on Confederate Avenue since 2003. It is a Southern city with many street names, monuments and statues connected to the Confederacy.

After the 2015 church shooting in Charleston, South Carolina, and then the 2017 deadly protest in Charlottesville, Virginia, Friesen and her neighbors decided that it was time for a change, at least on their street.

They joined together and formed a group they called Neighbors for a New Name. Friesen told CNN in an interview that the work was "collaborative," "egalitarian" and "inclusive." After getting a petition showing 50 percent of the neighborhood residents supported a name change, they voted on a new name. "United Street" was the clear winner.

"We weren't just changing it from Confederate because it was too long or too cumbersome or old-fashioned. We were changing it because it stood for something that we didn't care to uplift. And if we're going to replace it, let's replace it with something we do want to uplift," Friesen said.

The name change was signed into law in October 2018, but it became official during the 2019 Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

John A. Hochstetler '87, Fishers, Ind., was selected 2019 Teacher of the Year for the Hamilton Southeastern School District. He went on to represent his district in the running for Indiana State Teacher of the Year and made it to the top 25. He is in his 26th year of teaching and was recently featured in the Indianapolis Star.

René Harder Horst '89, Boone, N.C., is the I.G. Greer Distinguished Professor of History 2018-2021 at Appalachian State University.

Dawn R. Leatherman '88 and John McCarty, Goshen, were married on Sept. 9, 2018. Dawn has worked as a private duty nurse in Home Care for 26 years, focusing on pediatric respiratory patients with ventilators. In October 2017, she accepted a position as a supervisory nurse/case manager and currently manages the care of Home Care patients. 5

Lee Pfahler '89, Goshen, is a staff chaplain at Goshen Health, ministering primarily in the outpatient areas of heart and vascular rehabilitation, the Center for Cancer Care, and day surgery.

Donna J. Stoltzfus '86, Lancaster, Pa., published a book of middle-grade fiction, "Captive" (Schiffer Publishing, 2018), a well-researched historical novel about German POWs who worked on a Mennonite farm during World War II.

Lon L. Swartzentruber '88, Grand Rapids, Mich., is CEO and senior design partner with Design Group International.

Steve Thomas '86, Goshen, began as transitional pastor at Prairie Street Mennonite Church, Elkhart, on July 1, 2018.

Burkholder family travels the world in 365 days

Last summer, Susan '93 and Alan '93 Burkholder quit their jobs and left their home in Denver with their two daughters in tow for a one-year, 'round-the-world family sabbatical (pictured above). The Burkholders began toying with this idea more than a year ago.

"We love travel," Susan wrote in their blog. "We were ready to press pause on our careers for a bit. And most importantly, we want to provide some sort of intentional, cross-cultural experience for the girls at formative ages."

As a board member of Mennonite Mission Network (MMN), Susan has used those connections in choosing some their destinations, often acting as MMN workers on "special assignment." So far they have traveled to Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, New Zealand, Australia, Indonesia, Cambodia, Laos, Nepal and South Africa. As their year abroad winds down, they still plan to travel to Kenya, France, Spain and Portugal before returning home. They've set aside about a month for each location, and have been homeschooling their daughters on the road.

Susan writes in their blog, "Admittedly, that is still a quick visit, but we're hoping that it is enough to give the girls, and us too, a better understanding of the many different ways people live and work and play."

Two alums named Hoosier Resilience Heroes

In April, Indiana University's Environmental Resilience Institute named two Goshen College alumni to its list of ten 2019 Hoosier Resilience Heroes: Aaron Sawatsky-Kingsley '97 (left) and Leah Thill '12 (right). These are individuals "who are working to make Indiana more resilient in the face of environmental change, and make Indiana residents safer and healthier now and for generations to come."

Sawatsky-Kingsley is Goshen's city forester, working at revitalizing Goshen's urban forest. Together with the Goshen Tree Board, Sawatsky-Kingsley has initiated an urban forest canopy goal to double Goshen's tree cover from 22 percent to 45 percent by 2045. He also writes a weekly column in The Goshen News which discusses the value of individual trees and forests, the impacts from climate change and so much more related to caring for the planet.

Thill is the senior environmental planner with the Michiana Area Council of Governments (MACOG). She facilitates the implementation of clean energy, clean transportation and clean air initiatives and supports regional brownfield redevelopment. Prior to this role, she served with MACOG as the Technical Advisor for the SolSmart Program, and she launched the volunteer-powered Solarize Northern Indiana initiative which brought 97 new solar installations to the region in eight months.

Justin Gillette '05 wins his 100th marathon

While many people run and complete marathons — and that is a significant accomplishment — Justin Gillette '05 (above), of Goshen, won his 100th marathon on March 23, 2019. He is just the second person in the country to do so, and there are only four or five people in the world who have won more.

At GC, he was a three-time All-American in the marathon distance and he still holds the school record of 2:29.14. Now a professional racer, Gillette began running marathons when he was 16 and has since competed in more than 30 states — from Maine to Hawaii — and a few countries. At one point in his career, he was running more than 20 races a year, but only runs 10 a year now that he is a father of four children.

As he told WSBT-TV, his next goal is to try and win marathons in the 20 states that he hasn't already. And while he's taking a couple of weeks off after his 100th win, he's already making plans for his 101st win.

Weston T. Troyer '12 and Colette Troyer, Goshen, celebrated the birth of Reid Thomas on Dec. 17, 2018. He joins Tessa, 3. 29

In Memoriam

Debra Detwiler '79

Professor of Music

1957 – 2019

Debra Detwiler '79, professor of music, died April 22, 2019, at the age of 62. She taught at Goshen College for 20 years, beginning in 1999, after teaching music at Bluffton (Ohio) University for 10 years.

Detwiler was particularly passionate about exploring how the use of hymn and folk singing can become a catalyst for connections between people of differing cultures, faiths, ages and circumstances, and serve as an empowering tool for women. In 2004, she created the college's Women's World Music Choir, and along with it, she has directed the Goshen College Chorale, Chamber Choir and Parables Worship Ensemble. She has contributed stage, vocal, and orchestral direction to fully staged productions of operas and musicals at the college as well.

"She taught a generation of students to appreciate the transformative power of world music," said Scott Hochstetler '97, professor of music. "She leaves behind a gaping hole at Goshen College, but she also leaves behind a community profoundly changed by her presence."

She is survived by her two sons, Andy (Ali Gotwals '10) Brubaker '10 and Martin Brubaker '11; her mother, Helen (Thut) Detwiler '54; a sister, Karen (Loren '77) Nofsinger '77; and a grandson.

Humberto Perez

Visiting Professor of Spanish

1933 – 2018

Humberto Pérez Pancorbo, age 85, passed away on Dec. 9, 2018. He was a visiting professor of Spanish at the college between 1971-74 and 1998-2000.

Raised in Costa Rica, he dedicated his entire life to teaching and the education of others in Panama, Costa Rica as well as the United States, where he also taught at Ohio University.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Solano; children, Marianela (Carlos Wille) Pérez, Margaret (Francisco) Ramirez, Giovanni (Joselyn) Pérez, Diana (Joel Barcenas) Pérez '07 and Ivannia (Ben '08) Graber '08; and eight grandchildren.

Gerhard Reimer '56

Professor Emeritus of German

1928 – 2019

Gerhard Reimer, professor emeritus of German, died Jan. 1, 2019, at age 90. He joined the faculty in 1966 and retired in 1994.

Reimer taught German and occasionally Spanish at Goshen College from 1966-94. He led eleven study abroad groups for the college's Study-Service Term (SST) and Brethren Colleges Abroad (BCA) in Costa Rica and Germany.

"Gerhard was respected and admired by our partners in Germany and Latin America for his language ability, good humor and flexibility," said Tom Meyers '75, director of international education and associate academic dean.

He is survived by his second wife Rosemary (Wyse); three children, Paul (Kathy Meyer '83) Reimer '83; Julia (Phillip Lund) Reimer '86 of St. Paul, Minnesota; Christine (Michael Collins) Reimer '88 of Vancouver, British Columbia; and five grandchildren.

Carolyn Schrock-Shenk

Retired Associate Professor of Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies

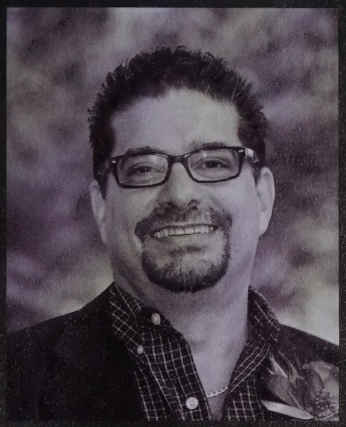
1955 – 2019

Associate Professor of Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies Carolyn Schrock-Shenk, age 63, died Feb. 6, 2019. She joined the Goshen College faculty in 2000 and retired in 2017.

A leading expert on mediation and reconciliation, she developed a class called "Transforming Conflict and Violence," which continues to be a popular and transformative core class for students. She also began the popular Inside-Out Exchange Program class at the Elkhart County Correctional Center, which paired Goshen College students with "inside" incarcerated students at the jail.

"She helped scores of students, both Goshen College students and incarcerated men and women, discover our commonality and imagine new ways of relating and living together," said Glenn Gilbert, director of facilities at Goshen College and co-teacher for the Inside-Out class.

She is survived by her sons, Caleb and John Schrock-Shenk '18, and their father, David Shenk, all of Goshen; sisters, Judy (Darold) Beachy, Mt. Gilead, Ohio, Velma (Sheldon '77) Swartz and Shirley (Jim) Troyer, both of Goshen; brother, Stephen Schrock, Middlebury; and sisters-in-law, Norma Schrock, Goshen and Rhonda Schrock, Middlebury.



Philip Thomas '87

Adjunct Professor of Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies

1965 – 2018

Philip Thomas '87, adjunct professor of peace, justice and conflict studies, died Nov. 29, 2018, at age 53.

With more than 30 years of experience in conflict prevention, transformation and peacebuilding, Thomas had traveled to more than 30 countries in his work with heads of states, indigenous groups, community leaders and corporate executives, trying to encourage dialogue and implement peace. In 2017, he received the college's Culture for Service Alumni Award.

"Goshen College has lost an occasional professor and constant friend who loved working with students. The Goshen community has lost a friend who cared as much about our nitty-gritty local concerns as he did about the great issues of war and peace across the globe. Our beautiful, struggling world has lost a friend who gave himself to its well being," said Joe Liechty '78, professor of peace, justice and conflict studies.

Surviving are his father of Goshen; wife, Ana; daughters, Alicia Thomas, of Goshen, and Sofia Thomas of Goshen; former wife and mother of his children, Charlene Mast '90 (Randy Miller '75) of Goshen; brothers, Steve (Linda '87) Thomas '86 and Timothy (Nitza) Thomas '88, both of Goshen.

Katherine "Kay" Yutzy

Associate Professor Emerita of Nursing

1927 – 2018

Katherine "Kay" Yutzy, associate professor emerita of nursing at Goshen College, died Dec. 23, 2018, at age 91. She taught at Goshen College in 1970, 1973-75 and from 1977 until her retirement in 1993.

Working through the Elkhart Mission Network, she taught in Dhamtari, India, before coming to Goshen College. While at Goshen, Yutzy managed return trips to Dhamtari to assist in upgrading the School of Nursing/Midwifery to a college status, where they now have more than 300 students in three different nursing programs.

"Kay was very self-disciplined and efficient and encouraged this in others," said former colleague Anne Hershberger '58, associate professor emerita of nursing. "She was versatile in being able to teach many areas of nursing. Her experience in India gave her an important world view to share with students."

Survivors include three brothers, Paul Yutzy and Allen Yutzy of Plain City, Ohio, and Homer Yutzy of Wauseon, Ohio; two sisters, Ada Schlabach of Sun City, Arizona, and Esther Zeitz of Solon, Ohio.

Before there was SST...

BY JOE SPRINGER '80, Curator, Mennonite Historical Library

BY SEPTEMBER 1968 — when the first Study-Service Term groups departed Goshen — the student body had been testing the waters of international exposure for over two decades. Faculty and young alumni helped staff post-World War II relief efforts in Europe. Soon there were regular opportunities to spend summers in a mix of educational travel and service camps working alongside youth from other countries.

Collaborating with other Mennonite colleges, GC began developing opportunities in other parts of the world — including Latin America. In 1964, Professor of Chemistry Henry Weaver scouted Caribbean and Central American locations for what became a partial prototype for SST. Settling on El Salvador as a "relatively unspoiled country, not geared to tourism," he noted that nationals seemed eager to teach U.S. students about the country.

That summer, Spanish and history professors, Verna '28 and Willard Smith '28, assisted by future Spanish professor, Robert Yoder '62, led an eight-week seminar with an interdisciplinary group of 15 students (five from Goshen). All 18 packed into a van and a station wagon to make the overland trek through Mexico and Guatemala to El Salvador. (A wad of chewing gum kept a gas tank leak from slowing them down.) On arrival in San Salvador, students — most without much Spanish language training — were immersed in host families themselves ignorant of English. Like SST, students had a wide variety of lectures by national experts. Excursions to coffee plantations, volcanoes and ruins were part of the experience, but there was no service component.

Yoder '62 (second male). Goshen College students not pictured: Jon Byler '66 and Ken Brubaker '65. The Smiths later led an SST unit in Honduras. Yoder, together with his wife Dorothy, led three SST units in Honduras, one in China and one in Indonesia.
